The President Back from Buzzards'.

Finds Time to Attend a Cabinet Meeting.

The Question of Repeal was the Chief Topic.

He Thinks His Recommen dations Will Hold.

The Proceedings in the House and Senate Senator White Gives Notice of Resolutions on Stanford's Death-Some Interesting Figures.

By Telegraph to The Times WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 .- (By ociated Press.) President Cleveland and family arrived at 4 o'clock this the White House in a drenching rain. Private Secretary Thurber says President is in excellent spirits, his eye is bright, his complexion clear, and he looked vigorous and strong.

After breakfasting the President went to the office, and for two hours worked very hard, disposing of accumulated public business. Then he took post in a Cabinet measure will a clearly part in a Cabinet meeting till 1 o'clock The silver question was discussed with reference to chances of repeal by the Senate. The President expressed the belief that his recommendation would be carried out. The Cabinet also con-sidered the condition of the treasury. No definite plan of action was decided on.

FIFTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(By the Associated Press.) SENATE.—In the morning hour Senator Teller submitted a resolution similar to the one recently adopted as to the month of July for a statement regarding the sli-ver purchases in August. It was agreed to. Senator White gave notice that on September 13 he would present resolutions touching the death of the late Senator Stanford.

The House bill to repeal the silver purchase clauses of the Sherman act, with the Voorhees bill as a substitute, was taken up today. Senator Vance, one of the minority members of the Finance Committee, spoke in opposi-tion to the bill and in favor of free coinage. A large part of his speech was devoted to showing the sistencies of the friends of repeal. He said they seemed to think that the only way to maintain parity between gold and silver is to first strike silver a death blow. Unconditional repeal would be a death blow, for it was well known that Cleveland would veto any silver coinage bill. The effect on the condition of mankind following the destruction of half of the currency of the world, aggregating $7,500,000,000, it would be impossible to accurately de-

He gave the history of the demonetization of silver, and declared that every government which had demon-etized the white metal did so when it was at a premium. When stopped in India the effort to have it aided by the influence of the moneyed power of all the world. If our government coinage stopped here silver would cease to live throughout the the commercial nations of the earth. The fall in price would be greater than that following the stoppage of coinage in India. Repeal without the substi-tute meant the end of silver money for this generation, unless a revolution of the people should restore it, as after the fraudulent demonetization of 1873. Let no man, he said, doubt that the proposed repeal was the result of a conspiracy among the money holders of the world. He declared that the Sherman law did not drive out gold, else why did gold return with it still in force. The Democratic platform, he said, denounced the Sherman act as a "cowardly makeshift," yet this bill for its repeal, striking silver a harder low, was more cowardly and more of makeshift. He closed with a declaration for the free coinage of silver.

During Senator Vance's remarks Senator Cockrell of Missouri Interjected a statement concerning the production and coinage of gold and silver from 1873 to 1892 which showed a production of gold amounting to $2,210,961,200, while the colonge amounted to $2,787,-714,679. Of silver the production was $2,400,760,533, and the colonge $2,322,- 603 351 Senator Voorhees surprised the Sen senator voornees surprised the Senator by asking for a vote on the substitute reported by the Finance Committee to the House repeal bill. He said no further debate was proposed at this time, although notices had been given of speeches intended for next week. He desired every Senator who, in good faith, wished to occupy the time of the Senate to have an opportunity, but could not take the re-sponsibility of being a party to more delay, and when a vacancy in the talk had been reached he wanted it filled by a vote. Discussion followed as to the parlia mentary procedure to be observed in the consideration of the subject, and Senator Voorhees asked that the Finance Committee bill be substituted for the House bill. Senator Cockrell objected until there was an opportuobjected the telefactusion. He pre-ferred the House bill, which says re-peal shall not impair the legal tender quality of the standard silver dollars heretofore coined, to the Senate sub-

Senator Allison of Iowa said that Senator Allison of Iowa said that the repeal clause in no sense affected or impaired the value of the silver dollars coined, but by inserting the House proviso it would leave a ques-tion of doubt whether that portion of the Sherman law stands which re-quires the Secretary of the Treasury to coin the buillon into dollars. The discussion at $620 p.m. was interrupted by a motion for an executive session, after which the Senate-adjourned.

Militia Officials at the Scene-Rumors

in this city at 12:25 o'clock yesterday SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1. "Gen. E. P. Johnson, Los Angeles Cal.: Sheriff Booth of San Bernardin wires that there is danger of an anti-Chinese demonstration at Redlands tonight, and requests that the militia of Redlands and San Bernardino be called to his assistance, if necessary. You are hereby directed to take proper steps to have the troops at those place ready for action, and to call them out if, in your judgment, absolute necessity requires it. The entire Chinese question is now before the Presiden and Congress; but, pendingtheir action. law and order must be maintained in H. H. MARKHAM, this State.

Gen. Johnson also received a dispatch form Sheriff Booth of San Bernardino, in which the latter, after stating that an anti-Chinese demonstration is threatened at Redlands

"It is reported by the leaders of the nob that they can put 150 armed men in the field for the purpose of driving out the Chinese. Mayor Prescott telephones me now from Redlands that the situation is unchanged, except that mounted messengers as I do, that a hold front at the outset may prevent bloodshed, while a puny show of resistance may result disastrously."

The Sheriff requested that Gen. Johnon communicate with Maj. Prescott. To a Times reporter, Gen. Johnson stated that, upon the receipt of Gov Markham's dispatch, he immediately ordered the companies of the National Guard at Redlands, Riverside and San Bernardino to hold themselves in readiness to move at a moment's notice. He did not anticipate any serious trouble, but, of course, it could not be known what might have hap pened.

THE SCENE OF THE TROUBLE.

Lieut.-Col. Butler and Other Staff Office on the Ground.
REDLANDS, Sept. 1.—(Special.) In accordance with orders from Gov. Markham, promulgated through Gen. Johnson of the First Brigade, Co. G. of the Ninth Regiment, N.G.C., was ordered under arms at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The men assembled quickly, and within half an houn Capt. Diss had sixty uniformed soldiers in his armory, with forty rounds of ammunition. At 7 o'clock this evening Lieut.-Col. Butler, chief of Gen. John son's staff, accompanied by Col. Schrieber and Lieut. Ogden of the Seventh Regiment, arived here with additional ammunition, and established headquarters in Maj. Prescott's of-

Lieut.-Col. Butler, acting for Gen Johnson, aranged for the calling out of the company at San Bernardine, under command of Capt. Muscott; Co. C of Riverside, under Capt Keith, Co. D of Pomona under Cant. Welsh. These commands are held under arms in their respective armories, and special ocomotives and tars are ready to pull out for the seat of trouble on a minute's notice, all of the armories being in direct communication by wire with Col. Butler's headquarters. The troops are acting in conjunction with Sheriff Booth and City Marshal Kendell, who have sworn in large posses of deputies. Chinatown, a group of motley buildings lying half a mi west of Redlands, at 10 o'clock tonight under surveilance of a cordo of videttes and mounted orderlies, who on the first signal of trouble will notify the commanding officers of the troops. At 9:30 o'clock Lieut.-Col. Butler received word from Capt. Muscott of San Bernardino that the electric light wire extending through the Chinese quarters had been cut, and that a meeting of unemployed workingmen had been called to assemble in Chinatown at midnight, with the avowed purpose of cleaning out the Celestials

A large delegation of workingmen from Mentone came to Redlands to night, and early in the evening crowds gathered on the principal thorough fares and kept a close watch on the Col. Butler and Sheriff Booth say that matters are quiet here now, and that in the event of trouble either here or in San Bernardino, four companie averaging sixty men each, can be at the scene in less than an hour. The citizens of Redlands are heartily in sympathy with all efforts to preserve law and order, and feel greatly lieved to know that the troops are mediately available. The presence of #### a large number of tough characters who have drifted into Redainds recently has caused all the apprehen sion, and they seem to feel that ther

is just cause for alarm. The authorities all agree that if any attack is made here tonight, it will be made after midnight. It was rumored at 10:30 o'clock that Mentone contingent, who came here early in the evening in buggler and wagons, have pulled out for San Bernardino, to take a hand in the looting of Chinatown there.

PATROLLING THE CITY.

A Strict Watch Kept Over the Chinese Quarter.
REDLANDS, Sept. 1.—(Special.) Redlands is patrolled tonight by 200 deputy sheriffs and special police, and hundreds of others hold themselves in readiness to answer any call to protect life and property from the violence of turbulent spirits who had threatened to drive from the city all Chinese found here tonight. Preparations were in progress all day and early in the even-ing in order to have everything in readiness to meet any emergency. Nearly all of the available able-bodied men who could be trusted to act on the right side were deputized and armed with carbines, rifles or shotguns and revolvers, or given instructions to be ready at a moment's notice. Rumors spread during the day and vening of bands of lawless Mexicans and anarchistic agitators numbering from 100 to 500 getting ready to carry out the threat made on Wednesday night, and consequently everybody was on the qui vive, giving the streets an air of restlessness quite out of the usual, and really unwarranted by the actual state of affairs. At 8 o'clock a cordon of fifty special policemen, all fully armed, under the command of J. S. Nettleton, an ex-Sheriff from Connecticut, marched with solemn tread from the Marshal's office to Chinatown, where they stationed corpo ral's guards of four men each entirely around the Chinese quarter, guards 1, 2, 3 and 4 along the Southern Pacific track on the south, and guards 5, 6, 7 and 8, along the Santa Fe on the north. The others were placed at convenient posts at the Chinese houses, in readiness to respond to any call for aid, and to relieve those on duty at the end of each hour.

Scouts on bicycles and horses were ent out through the suburbs to give varning of the approach of suspicious characters in the city; squads of depu ties were armed and distributed at convenient intervals about the streets under the charge of Marshal Kendall. Sheriff Booth, Under Sheriff King. Deputy United States Marshal Faris, ex-City Marshal Thomas and Deputy O. Sheldon of San Bernardino came here early in the evening prepared to give assistance if necessary. Early in the evening the Chine ound that they needed groceries, and a deputation was sent, under the protection of a guard, for supplies. Citi zens living below Chinatown were escorted through the lines by armed offiters. Several of those who had taken part in the 'agitators' meeting or Wednesday night appeared near China town, but were sent home by the guards. At 9 o'clock, several reports, as of pistols, caused a rush to the streets and windows, but investigation showed that some one had set off half a dozen firecrackers. Some of the agitators were observed moving about the streets, but were not disturbed by the officers so long as they did not congregate or make any suspicious moves At one time about forty of them gathered about Deputy United States with him, and asked advice. He told them to disperse, and to act, if necessary, under the decision of Judge Ross arresting all Chinese not registered, and he (Faris) would take the latter to Los journed. There was unusual animation along the route from Gladstone's residence to the Commons yesterday afternoon, the streets being crowded with people who wished to calch a glimpse of the great champion of home-rule. He was cheer-ed all along the route. He was accompanied by his wife and was evidently much pleased with the heartsness of his greeting, bowing constantly to the crowds. The galleries of the House were filled long before the sitting opened. A large number of ladies were present. The Premier was loudly cheered by his followers as he walked to his seat. The galleries also gave him a warm greeting. Justin McCarthy opened the debate speaking on the same lines as Dillon last night. Chamberlain followed. He said the bill struck a deadly blow at the honor and interests of the country, but he could not avoid being filled with admiration at the courage, resolution, resources and eloquence of the Prime Minister. Chamberlain spoke over an hour, and his address was a brilliant one. He was frequently applauded. When Balfour rose to speak, the House was filled to overflowing. He spoke more than an hour. He said the government's insane action had done more than one hundred Tory governments had done to demonstrate the necessity for the House of Lords as the bulwark of the greatness and in-terests of the empire. John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, spoke bitterly of the tactics of the opposition. He said there was a great party in Great Britain determined that Ireland should no longer be the cock-pit of En-

The full import of the occasion was felt by all, and the cul-mination was accompanied by a round of frantic cheers from the galleries and uton the floor. Gladstone received a resh ovation as he left the House. The cenes in front, after midnight,

When Gladstone's carriage came out, a number of mounted police instantly surrounded it, but the crowd, when they learned who was in the carriage, became beyond control, and, breaking through the cordon, stopped the car through the cordon, stopped the car-riage and held it while they cheered the Premier to the echo. The coachman was enabled to proceed after a few minutes, but by this time the entire crowd left their positions and started after the carriage, which again stopped at the corner of Downey street, while the crowd cheered and sang "See the Conquering Hero Comes." The police again cleared the way, and the carriage was allowed to proceed.

Action Taken to Prevent the Use of Mob Violence. REDLANDS, Sept. 1.—(Special.) The gathering of the lawless element on Thursday night, and the action taken at the meeting against the Chinese in the evident determination to drive the latter out of town by force, if they would not depart peaceably, has aroused our citizens to a realization of the fact that the almond-eyed Mongo-aroused our citizens to a realization of the fact that the almond-eyed Mongolian does not comprise the only objectionable and dangerous element in the city. There is another element threatening the fair name of Redlands, a menace to the city's prosperity, and a curse to any community in which it gathers. This element is made, up of, a few reckless and lawless individuals of anarchistic tendencies, and a large number of dupes, devoid of any ideas as to government or business, who become pliant tools in the hands of the loud-mouthed and wily leaders. Redlands is awakening to the fact that many of this class have found their way to this city and the neighborhoods round about here. This conviction resolved itself into a determination on Thursday to take some action to forestall the threatened outbreak, and during the afternoon word was passed rapidly about that there would be a citizens' law and order meeting at the Academy of Music that evening. At the appointed hour the big hall was filled to overflowing with people, fully one thousand being present, nearly all of whom w. ve yoters.

THE MEETING. The meeting was called to order by Judge C. C. Bennett, and Mayor E. G Judge C. C. Bennett, and Mayor E. G. Judson was made chairman. The Mayor made a brief address upon taking the chair, saying that within the past few days lawless and violent acts had been committed in and about the city, and such acts would be continued unless steps were taken to prevent them. He said that he did not love the Chinese, and would not employ them when he could get white labor, but he did love law and order. The attacks made upon the Chinese labor, but he did love law and order. The attacks made upon the Chinese were despoiling them of their just rights, and were prompted in some measure by a desire on the part of some to plunder those against whom their acts were aimed. Such actions by irresponsible persons had placed a stain upon the fair name of Redlands, and had injured the city beyond com-

The cry of some so-called mechanics that the Chinese competition was driving them from their trade was without foundation, so for as this city was concerned. There was no patching of old houses or any such work done or any such work as the Chinese could do in that line. The buildings were all new, and the mechanics constructing them were all white laborers. putation.

C. C. Bennett spoke upon the necessity of a community abiding by the laws of the land. The law was supreme, and offered equal protection to all. No mob violence should be tollerated, no matter what class of citizens it might be directed against. Nothing was ever gained by such methods. Redlands had been a model city, and it should not be permitted to have the word go forth to the world that in this place law was of no effect, and the people, powerless before the agitators of violence. He then offered the following resolutions:

"Whereas, threats have been made of a serious and dangerous disturbance of the peace and good order of our city, and whereas, attempts have been made by lawless persons to foment disorder, and to inspire a spirit of lawlessness, and to excite the people upon our streets to acts of violence and crime, and whereas, threats are made of an unlawful and criminal attack upon a certain class in our community, with the avowed purpose of despoiling them of their just rights and the equal protection accorded them by law, and whereas, we believe such purpose to be inspired by the worst of motives, and, in part, by a desire to indulge in indiscriminate plunder of that class, and whereas, the success of such a measure would be a lasting reproach and discredit, and a stain upon the fair name of our city, and, therefore, to be discountenanced and combated by all lawful means at our command. "Now, therefore, we, the citizens of Redlands, in mass-meeting assembled, de hereby "Resolve, that we denounce and con-

"Resolve, that we denounce and condemn in unmeasured terms any and every attempt that has be ing made to incite the minds of any to purposes of crime, violence or dis-order, and that we denounce in the strongest possible manner any and all such purposes against whomsoever, or by whomsoever the same may be di-such purposes against whomsoever, or by whomsoever the same may be directed.

"Resolved, that no citizen at all interested in the well-being of our city can view without condemnation any such attempts or movements as aforesaid, or can im any vise encourage, support or countenance them by any act or word.

"Resolved, that we believe in the equal protection of law to all classes; that we will tolerate no lawless attack ubon the rights of any; that there be unflinching enforcement of the law, and that we hereby appeal to all classes of our citizens to render all such aid and assistance as may be in their power to all lawful attempts of the officers of the city to preserve the peace, to prevent violence, to uphold the laws, and to suppress all criminal acts whatsoever."

In seconding the notion for the adoption of the resolutions, I. N. Hoag made a brief but telling speech in favor of maintaining order in the city and protecting all persons, no matter of what nationality they were.

M. F. Foley brought out a number of telling points omitted by other speakers. He spoke for he laborer and for the unemployed resident white labor, as against Chiasse or other foreigners of the shiftless and transient kind. Other speakers were C. N. Andrews. Rev. J. F. Hamilton and Sheriff Booth. The later said that he would enforce the laws in so far as power was given him or die in the attempt.

"Resolved, that, while we are unqualifiedly in favor of maintaining order and law and equal nights for all without respect to class or race, our sympathy is first, last and always with the white laboring men, particularly in these times of financial stringency and soarcity of labor, and that we urgently request all persons having work to be done to give the preference to our own citizens and taxpayers, wherever the same can be done without detriment to their interest."

New York Stocks.

NEW YORK Sept. 1.—Emphatic denials by the General Electric officials that the company is in difficulties had a good effect on the stock market, at the start. Brokers in receipt of early information as to the misfortunes of the Equitable Mortgage Company concluded its interests were largely centered in the Eastern States, consequently they hammered New England and, by main force, put the stock down 24. The holders of other stocks refused to be frightened, and a rush was made to get back stocks. This buying gave the market an appearance of buoyancy, and a majority of the leading issues were sold at the highest prices of the day and week. Government bonds closed stronger. THE POLICE COURT. Two Disturbers of the Peace Receive Sentence-Other Cases.

In the Police Court yesterday Tom Andrews and George Rice, the two men who were arrested by Officer Mc-Clure on Wednesday night, appeared for sentence for disturbing the peace, and were each given $50 or fifty days.

J. M. Carter, who was arrested on the night before on suspicion of being

Carter was given $3 or two days. He is said to be one of the men who figured in a Santa Monica robbery some time ago, and was discharged for lack of evidence to convict.

Jim Dunn and Frank Pierce were ar raigned yesterday on a charge of at-tempting robbery on a drunken man the night before. They had been ar-rested by Officer Lennon. Preliminary examination in their case was set for September 4, and they were sent to the County Jail pending trial. examination in their case was set for September 4, and they were sent to the County Jail pending trial.

Preliminary examination in the case of Arthur Lewis was also held. Lewis is the man who is charged with disposing of a piano belonging to Fisher Boyd without properly accounting for the same. Lewis testified in his own behalf that the firm was owing him a sum of money earned as commission, and that this was the reason why he did not turn over the money paid him for the piano. Mr. Fisher, however, testified that this statement was a falsehood.

Dragged by a Cow.

A boy named George W, Stevens, who lives at No. 233 Fremont avenue, was seriously hurt in a peculiar manner yesterday.

At about noon the lad started to lead a cow by means of a rope fastened around his wrist. The animal, in some manner, became frightened and ran, dragging the boy after her for a distance of some two or three blocks.

The lad was badly bruised in a number of places about his body. He was perfectly the started to his injuries.

Birds as Omens.

(American Field:) When an epidemic of cholera threatens a certain locality, the birds leave the neighborhood a few days before the appearance of the scourge. This was noticed in connection with the recent outbreak of the epidemic at Hamburg. In 1884 the same phenomenon occurred at Marseilles and Toulon, where all the birds, as if actuated by a common impulse, abandoned the plague-stricken cities and took up their abode at Hyeres, which was fortunate in escaping the plague. The great influx of birds at the time was much commented upon by the inhabitants. In 1872 all of the sparrows left the town of Prezemsyl, Galicia, two days before the appearance of the pest, and not a single bird returned before the end of November, when the cholera had entirely disappeared.

The Difference.

Georgia correspondent. Do you find any difference between Southern and Western borrowers?

President of the W. S. F. M. Co. Well, yes, there is one difference. A Kanssa farmer always wants a loan to pay his debts, but a Georgian always desires to liquidate his indebtedness.

Give the Unemployed Work.

In a free, enlightened and civilized country like the United States every honest and capable ritizen has an in-herent right to obtain labor sufficient to supply him and his family, if he have with the bare necessaries of life. The Declaration of Independence asthat among the inalienable rights with which men are endowed by their Creator are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Nothing is said about the right to labor, for at that time the possibility was not conceived this vast country, with its millions of acres of fertile land and wonderful mineral resources; with its lmost boundless expanse of virgin forest, the water teeming with finny tribes; there could ever come a time when an honest, able-bodied and industrious citizen of these United States of America should ever look for work and look in vain.

Yet that time has come, owing to great volume of promiscuous immigration and the overcrowding of our great cities. The spectacle of American workingmen who are in actual of bread has been offered us from time to time during the past uarter of a century, and has, indeed, become so common an occurrence that has ceased to excite special surprise or indignation. Never, however, has uch a state of affairs been witnessed in this country as exists at present.

The business depression has closed many industrial establishments, has caused hundreds to be run on reduced time, while others are being operated without profit in order that employees may be given work; as a consequence, hundreds of thousands of men, many of whom have families dependent upon them, have been thrown out of employ-

This is a subject of grave concern to all the people and it is the duty of ill good citizens to lend their best energies to alleviate so deplorable a conlition of affairs and avert the possibility of worse dangers to which the present difficulty may lead. This may done, not by indiscriminate charity, besides doing more harm than good, is unpalatable to all true Ameriut by supplying work to the unemployed, so as to enable them to tide over the temporary depression and make a living until the wheels of commerce recommence their regular revo-Jutions. Such work may be furnished by individuals, by corporations, by municipalities, by counties, by States, and possibly by the Federal government. It is not essential to create needless work for the purpose. There is plenty of necessary work that has to be done the present is a good time to do it, not sands of worthy men in need of work, but because labor and material are both cheap at present—cheaper, probably, than they will be again for a long

One of the most useful lines of employment in which these men might be engaged is the construction and improvement of our highways. The importance of road improvement has been urged for years upon the people of county, and a State convention to consider the subject has been called to meet in Sacramento this month. To illustrate the value of the work that might be done, it is stated in the report of the Massachusetts Highway Commission that the loss from bad roads in the State amounts to between five and ten million dollars per annum, probably a larger sum than would be dition. It has been estimated that Illinois loses $100,000,000 per year from bad roads. There was never a more fitting time than the present to inaugurate a system of road improve ment on a large and generous scale.

Here in Los Angeles it has been sug gested that bonds be voted for park improvements. Although money is present tight, our citizens in view of double, benefit which such expenditure would secure, may be relied pared plan of this character, provided they are assured that every dollar voted shall be made to go as far as possible in giving work to our unemployed. It would, of course, be neces such a case to restrict the employment of men to such as have been here a reasonable length of time, otherwise we should be overrun with an army of men from all parts of the Coast and our own deserving unemployed citizens might be lost in the shuffle.

There is a wider range to this ques tion which deserves consideration. Is not a disgrace in this great and wealthy country with its many multi-millionaires, that honest and industrious men should seek in vain for work? Is it not a primary duty of society to see that every citizen is af-forded an opportunity to labor at least to buy food and shelter These men, however poor and humble if they escape a poll tax they pay an indirect tax on the protected articles which they consume. In return for this they should certainly have a ight to live, and the government itif should go to the extent of its elegated powers in furnishing employ-ent to the needy, without entering individuals to mete out. It is t too much to ask in these closing

Suppose the government were dertake the irrigation of the vast area of arid lands which it owns in this country. It is estimated that there are 616,000,000 acres of such land upon which water would produce crops. At present a large portion of this land is bsolutely worthless. A small portion is good for pasturage during a part of the year. Suppose we say that, on an average, the land is worth 50 cents an acre, and suppose that, by the expenditure of say $10 per acre or to produce crops to the value of at and productive homes to a population equal to that of the United States to day, and suppose that while doing this the government would be guaranteeing employment, at say $1 per day, to all who are unable to find work thus placing millions of dollars in circulation among the people, would not this be a worthy and beneficent enterprise and entirely within the province of such a government as ours? Of course, before such an enter-prise was established it would be necessary to place some restriction on immigration, otherwise we should overrun by swarms of laborers from other countries, to whom $1 a day is big pay, and so the main object of the undertaking would be defeated. This, however, could be arranged. If we can keep out the Chinese there is no reason why we cannot exclude the lower classes of Poles, Hungarians, Italians and some other European nations which people possess most of the vices of the Chinese and few of their good qualities, besides having a leaning toward bloodshed and anarchy which is peculiarly their own.

This branch of the subject is, how ever, in the future. What we now have to consider is the furnishing of employment to those who are in need of it in Los Angeles. There are probably some five hundred men at pres ent out of work in the city, not count ing those who are looking for work while praying that they may not find it. This number promises to be largely increased as soon as work on the sew and water systems is finished.

Let our citizens put their shoulders to the wheel and help Los Angeles to maintain the reputation which it ha acquired as the most prosperous city in the United States. Let it said that there is a single citizen of not find it. Our citizens will be more than amply repaid by the conscious-ness of having done a worthy deed; by the value of the improvements made in this manner, and, indirectly, by the good effect which such a display of public spirit will have upor

Briefly recapitulated, the course suggested by 'The Times' is as follows: (1.) Let the city at once commence be required within the coming few months, or which will have to be un-dertaken during the winter, and let such other necessary work as has not yet been decided upon be commenced without delay, provision being made that residents of Los Angeles shall be given the preference among the employed. There are always repairs to be made to streets, grading, paving, changes of grade and other such undertakings which must be carried out sooner or later. There is a law providing that sidewalks and vacant lots must be kept free of weeds. This law, which is at present a dead letter, should be enforced. If it is decided to submit the question of bonds for park improvements to the people, let it be done at once, so that, if they carry, work may also be begun.

(2.) Let the county follow a similar course in general. There are plenty of reads which badly need repairing before the rainy season commences. Bridges need looking after and levees must be put in good repair. Now is the time to undertake this work.

(3.) Let all citizens who contemplate improvements of any character start work at once, if they are in a position to do so, and thus kill two birds with one stone, getting the labor and material cheap, and furnishing employment to deserving men who need it There is a crying demand for small houses to rent. A couple of hundred neat cottages of from five to eight rooms could be rented within a week. This in September. How will it be at Christmas? Those who have unimproved lots and the means to build houses on them are shortsighted if they do not take advantage of the present opportunity. Employment for those who need it is the pressing duty of the hour!

There is truth in the old adage, "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," and it is with cheerfulness that we see it illustrated in the statement that the financial stringency and industrial depression throughout the country have caused a cessation of the flood of undesirable Italian immigration to the United States. A vast amount of good sometimes does come from what are considered altegether as public calamities.

annex the New Hebrides. The great powers of Europe might as well get together and divide up the unappropri-ated territory of the world on the lot-tery principle. It would save a great deal of international complication.

Some Republican Politics of 1892.

Certain peculiar and well-remen bered features of the Presidential cam paign of 1892 in California-and par ticularly in Los Angeles and the Sixth Congress District-were recently made the subject of a pointed and incisive letter written by William A. Spalding formerly of the editorial staff of Th Times (now a resident of San Fran cisco,) and addressed to James Mc-Lachlan, Esq., of this city. The occasion for writing the letter was made by Mr. McLachlan himself in his significant speech at the Clarkson banquet here, which elicited such hearty applause from his Republican audience. Spalding in his letter, after quot ing from the speech, highly commends he position and utterances of Mr. Mc Lachlan, saying:

Lachlan, saying:
These are keen-edged words; they strike deep at the root of an evil that has grown up in the Republican party, and which, many believe, accomplished its undoing at the last election. I concur most heartily in your opinion above quoted, and congratulate you on the courageous devotion to the Republican party which prompted its utterance. It is one of those unpalatable truths which a constitution of the courageous devotion the service and policy-worker. mere time-server and policy-worker would not dare to put forth. It is the salutary warning of a true friend who scorns flattery and pretense, and speaks the plain truth, though he knows it will hurt.

The letter goes on to discuss the sharply upon its prominent local fea tures, and dwelling critically upon the manner in which delegates to the Re-National Convention were elected. The "pernicious activity" and the destructive operations of the Federal brigade in that convention are boldly attacked, and Mr. McLachlan's course is strongly commended in this language:

language:

If such protests as you have conrageously raised, and such as are voiced all over the country by thoughtful Republicans, shall have the effect of preventing undue political officiousness on the part of Federal officials in the future, the outcome will be better, not only for the Republican party, but for the nation. Let us not be deterred by carping criticisms from proclaiming our honest convictions. Nobody has any right to set up little tin gods for our adoration and proclaim us hereits and traitors when we fail to bend the knee to them. Your declaration that the California delegates to the Minneapolls convention failed to represent the real sentiments of the Republicans of California is beyond question. This position has been vindicated by the verdict of the country rendered at the polls. When Benjamin Harrison went before the bar of Republican opinion to determine whether he was the best man for leader, he was rejected. The country was Republican then and is Republican today, but it would not clerate a machine-made candidate for President. A cabal of over one hundred and fifty office-holders in the national convention succeeded in thwarting the will of the Republicans of the country, throwing a wet blanket upon Republican enthusiasm, and, with the aid of the ice-chest of Mr. Harrison's frigid personality, bringing defeat upon a great party that was otherwise capable of winning the electoral battle. The whole letter makes "mighty in

Now that individuals and companies are curtailing superfluous expenses on all sides, would it not be a good idea for the federal government to do a little in that line also? There are many officers who are far better paid those who hold similar positions in private life, while some high-salaried employees might be dispensed with altogether without serious inconveni-ence to the public. It is not right that at this time, when every one is ing and saving to make ends meet, the people should be taxed to support a number of supernumeraries.

There is a shrewd suspicion that some of these railroad companies which are making big reductions in their working forces and in salaries are falling down before they are hit. As in case of the citizen who cannot his bill because the banks are closed, this is a very good opportunity for the companies to reduce their ex-penses. If they are not doing a good business now, while the World's Fair is on, it is difficult to see how they will be able to keep running next year. A day that passes without a serious railroad accident is now rather the exception than the rule. The number of men and women and children who are killed and maimed on the railroads of this country during the year is some thing awful to contemplate. Whi the companies are bending their energies toward improving the speed of their trains and the elegance of their equipage, it would be well for them to devote a little attention to the question of making railroad travel more

The Home-rule Bill passed the House of Commons by a vote of 301 to 267. This is a triumph for Ireland and the great statesman who has so nobly championed her cause. The ba tle is, however, not yet won. The bill now goes to the lords, where it will probably be defeated on the second probably be defeated on the second reading, and then an appeal will be taken to the country. The result will be awaited with interest by all friends of human progress.

Scarcely a day passes that one doe not read of a fire which originated by the explosion of a gasoline stove. The curious part of the business is that all these stoves are perfectly safe and absolutely free from danger. In this they resemble the gun which is not loaded, an invention that is almost deadly as the gasoline stove.

There is a movement on foot a Washington to secure Statehood for the District of Columbia. The movement has got as far as holding meet-ing; and passing resolutions.

To the Editor of the Examiner: In response to the Examiner's inquiries I will state that it is impossible to anticipate the action of the Senate response to the Examiner's inquisies I will state that it is impossible to anticipate the action of the Senate with reference to the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act. My impression is, however, that there is a bara majority of the entire body in favor of unconditional repeal. Changes are, however, possible. There is no immediate prospect of taking a final vote. I am opposed to unconditional repeal, and I am also opposed to filibustering. My judgment is, that notwithstanding irresponsible outside talk the subject is worthy of further serious discussion. When legitimate argument ends I trust the roll will be called. Statistics of a Perfect Female Figure.

(Jenness Miller Magazine.) A Wisconsin girl would like to know the measurements for a perfect figure of a young lady of 20 years. Answer: Age, 20; height, 5 feet 4 finches to 5 feet 4½ inches; weight, 118 to 122 pounds, bust, 32½ to 32 inches, waist, 21 to 22½ inches; bust over biceps, 41 to 42 inches; ankle, 6½ to 7½ inches; shoe size, 3½. This is one standard; others give waist measure an inch, or, possibly, two inches larger, on the theory that a strictly perfect form must not have a compressed waist. There are, however, various authorities, none of which agree. Some prefer Juno, others Venus, and yet Statistics of a Perfect Female Figure. authorities, none of which agree. Some prefer Juno, others Venus, and yet others some fairy-like creature who would be of but little value to the world other than as an ornament or as a plaything. It seems, however, to be conceded by those who are best qualified to judge that the medium is most to be desired.

A Little Chiness Aristocrat.

(Philadelphia Ledger:) The city of Washington will soon lose one of its picturesque figures, as the present Chinese Minister's term soon expires, and he will take his little daughter back to China with him. Little Miss Mi was born in Washington two years ago. She can "chin-chin" a little in English, and is democratic in her mingling with and greeting other children and citizens in Dupont circle, where she takes her airings. She is a charming little doll, as droll and quaint a figure as one can see in weeks in her red frocks, junk shoes and tiny embroidered cap, and is docility and serenity herself. World's Fair Lecture "The World's Columbian Exposition "The World's Columbian Exposition," presented by Rev. A. W. Rider, in a lecture illustrated with atereopticon views, was the attraction that filled every seat in the auditorium of the First Presbyterian Church last night. The entertainment wis given under the auspices of the Sundayschool, and was one of a series held monthly. It was an excellent trip taken with the lecturer, without any of the discomforts of a long journey, and it afforded a remarkably clear idea of the World's Fair city, its grounds and buildings. A number who are to leave next week for Chicago were in attendance.

Mrs. Alice Poulson, wife of the Dr. Poulson whose singular antics have of late furnished substance to fill many columns in the San Francisco papers, writes The Times from Fruitvale to take exception to the report of the interview published some time ago with C. A communication to The Ceived from H. T. West, Jr., presents a number of ideas looking loward the amelioration of the condition of the unemployed. The plan outlined based on a free employment burse but in its details it is somewhat cu bersome, and there being such an stitution already in existence, it wo probably be inexpedient to supplement with another.

The disease was found to be typhoid fever.

Andrew Scott Committed the Assault.

He Intended to Steal Vike's Money.

A Suit to Settle Disputed Boundar Lines.

Mrs. Hanson Appears in Court to Testily as to What Property She Possesses-Or-ders Made in Probate Matters.

Andrew Scott, a burly negro laborer was brought before Justice Bartholo mew yesterday afternoon on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Pete Vike, an Italian, was the com-plaining witness. He said that he was employed on the work of building the outfall sewer. The laborers' camp was some distance outside the city, and all of the men slept in a large tent. Among them was Scott, the colored man. Several nights ago, so the witness related, he was awakened from sleep by a noise, and, upon looking around, saw that Scott had got out of bed and was coming stealthily over to his (Vike's) cot. The witness had some money under his bed, and it dawned upon him instantly that the negro intended to steal the coin and then decamp. The witness therefore gave the alarm by yelling out at the top of his voice. The other men, awakened by the cry, jumped up and confronted Scott. When he saw that his plan was frustrated the negro endeavored to explain' matters by saying that he was only moving around because he could not sleep. Vike then said, "No, you were going to take my money."

Scott again denied that such was his purpose, and when Vike once more repeated the accusation the colored man drew a knife and stabbed him in the side. Then he took to his heels and ran away. He was afterward capemployed on the work of building the outfall sewer. The laborers' camp was Calvin Edgerton, Esq., had no defense whatever to offer for his client, and the justice held the defendant to answer on the charge, with ball bond at $500.

As neither party seemed able to positively locate the position of these linemarks, it was mutually agreed that the matter was to be left to two surveyors, Mr. Freeman to choose one, and Mr. Mesmer the other. Mesmer selected William Moore, and Freeman, Alfred Salano. In the event that the two surveyors should not agree, it was decided also that a third engineer, John Jackson, should be called in to furnish the decisive vote in the matter.

Moore and Salano went to work, but failed to agree. Then they sent for Jackson, but before the latter came Mr. Freeman alleges that Mesmer gave notice that he would not stand by the agreement entered into on the date previous.

To compel a settlement of the boundaries, the suit is brought, the plaintiff praying that the court will make such orders as will settle the dispute.

HAD NO PROPERTY.

In response to summons, Mrs. O. Hanson appeared yesterday before Justice Bartholomew in order to be examined as to whether or not she was possessed of property subject to attachment. Mr. Hanson, the woman's husband, is the man who was arrested over a week ago on a charge of insanity, preferred by his wife.

The couple were only married in June last. Mrs. Hanson at that time had several thousand dollars, and all of this she, gave to her husband to start into business with. Hanson opened what was known as the Collateral Bank on South Main street, but after

Mrs. Hanson attributed her husband's lack of business qualities to insanity, and had Hanson arrested. Hanson was released upon examination before a lunacy commission, and went back home. Since then it has been found that he owed several parties money, and upon such debts a writ of attachment was issued.

On the stand yesterday Mrs. Hanson testified that she had no money or property in the city upon which the attachment might be levied.

THE OTHER SIDE.

A Public Statement by a Boycotted Firm.

The Trouble Started Because the Proprietors Refused to Allow Outside Interference in the Conduct of Their Business.

The trouble between the firm of Melsted & Maxwell and their former waiters, which has culminated in a boycott being directed against their place of business, has brought out from the restaurant proprietors a public statement of the origin of the contro-

Mr. Melisted them requested them to wait a day, and that in the mean time he would send for Davis, asking him to return immediately and resume his place as clerk.

"Mr. Melisted then inquired of each man separately if he desired to quit should Farrell not be discharged. Henry Lawson, Tom la Rue, Martin Culich and James Turner all said they did. Culich and Turner were on the right watch, not working under Farrell, and certainly had no reasons for their action, so far as Farrell was concerned, nor any just grounds to demand his discharge.

"As Farrell had been in our employ several times, and had been a good and faithful waiter, we declined to discharke him without just cause, and Mr. Melisted paid off Lawson and La Rue: Shibush and Johnson remained.

"Not one word of complaint was uttered by any of them at that time, claiming that their hours of labor were too long.

"Being short of hands for lunch, which is our busiest time, we were compelled to engage three or four new men to help us out. During the lunch on that day, Devine, a member of the Walters' Union, came to our back door, called out the new lunch men, and, by intimidation, induced them to out.

rived for the night watch to go to work, Martin and Turner failed to show up.

"On the same day several members of the Waiters' Union posted themselves in front of our place of business, and by every means in their power tried to persuade our customers from entering our place.

"On the following day Dobbins called upon Mr. Melsted and informed him that he (Dobbins) had made a mistake in calling out the men, and that he was convinced that under the circumstances he had no authority to do so. Dobbins apologized to Mr Melsted for his conduct, and requested him to take back the men that had left Mr. Melsted declined to comply with Dobbins's request and informed him that it his conduct, and requested him to take back the men that had left Mr. Melsted declined to comply with Dobbins's request, and informed him that it would be an act of gross injustice to discharge the men who had come to our assistance, and fill their places with those who had just deserted us without just cause.

discharge the men who had come to our assistance, and fill their places with those who had just deserted us without just cause.

"Upon the following day Mr. Dobbins again called, and, in a conversation with Mr. Maxwell, acknowledged that the course pursued by the waiters in quitting our employ was wrong, yet strenuously urged the discharge of Farrell, Shibush, and Benedict, the latter one of our new employees. We declined to comply with the request. Finding that they brought on their troubles by their own wrongful conduct, and for the purpose of enlisting the sympathy of the various labor societies, and misleading the public, they then invented a story of a new grievance, viz., that they were all compelled to labor thirteen hours, and did not get sufficient time to eat their meals.

"Our establishment is open night and day, and we have two shifts of waiters. The day waiters are on duty twelve hours and the night shift thirteen hours. Three-quarters of an hour of the time of both sets of employees is devoted by them to their meals. The reason for one shift overlapping into another is because they change at meal times, and it requires the whole force to wait upon our patrons, who seldom devote more than fifteen minutes to the eating of their meals. Unless we are crowded the waiters can take all the time they please for their own meals. They are also allowed to have substitutes to work in their places at any time they see fit.

"We pay the day watch $12 per week and board, and the night watch $11.50 per week and board. We have made diligent inquiry concerning the wages paid to waiters by establishments similar to ours, and have ascertained that we pay the highest wages in this of any other city on the Coast.

Three of the outgoing waiters, Tom is Rue, James Turner and Martin Culich, applied to be reinstated about a week previous to the first street parade directed aginst us, which plainly indicates that their complaint to the public about overwork was a base fabrication, and had no foundation in truth or justice, icabout overwork was a base fabrication, and had no foundation in truth or justice, and was a subterfuge to mislead the laboring classes. It induced some of the labor organizations to join them in a public demonstration in order to hold us up more effectively to the opprobrium of those societies and the public. A simple demand to reduce their working time to twelve hours would have been cheerfully complied with by us.

"Carpenter, painters and members of other trades perform more physical hard labor, and at the risk of joss of limb and life, in eight hours, than waiters perform in twenty-four hours; the former, when once at their task have to work steadily until the day's labor is completed; are exposed to the heat in the summer and to the loss of time in the winter, while waiters are protected from the inclemency of the weather during all seasons of the year, have little to do for about three hours during their day's work, and, if sober and industrious, can always command good situations.

"Mr. Melsted has been in business on this Coast for about thirty years; has never employed Chinese, and has always supported union organizations.

"We are perfectly willing to reduce the time of employment, also that our employees may join the Waiters' Uniob, but under no circumstances will we discharge the men who stood by us, unless for cause, nor reinstate those who stood by us."

WAS HE ELIGIBLE?

Mr. Platt's Qualifications are Questioned.

The Claim Made That the Member of th Board from the Third Ward Was Not Regularly Elected.

It has, for a number of days, been rumored about the City Hall more or less, that J. C. Platt of the Board of Education was not at the time of his election to that office eligible to the position, and was therefore not a legally qualified incumbent in it.

The cause of his ineligibility was said to be because he had not-lived for one year previous in the ward from which he was elected, as was required by the city charter.

Rumors to this effect prompted an investigation, which developed the fact that the statements appeared to be well founded.

investigation, which developed the fact that the statements appeared to be well founded.

The city directory for the year 1893 gave Mr. Platt's address as No. 219 West. Sixth street, as did also the Great Register of voters for the year 1892.

The city directory for 1892, however, recorded Mr. Platt as living at No. 222 Winston street, which place is not in the Third Ward, but in the Seventh. In order to have lived in the Third Ward for a year preceding his election, he must have moved from that place at about December 1, 1891. It seemed hardly probable that a directory fublished somewhere near July 1 should record a man as living at a place from which he had moved away seven months before, and so a further investigation was made.

A Times reporter called at No. 222 Winston street vesterday, where he was informed that the place had recently been sold, but that it had formerly been owned by J. H. Hege, who was living at Eighth and Pearl streets. Mr. Here was afterward called on, and on being interrogated, stated that he had owned the property for some time up to a recent date. He remembered reinting the place to Mr. Platt moved on to the place, nor just when he moved away, but was sure that he remained there for some four of the months, and perhaps more. He was sure that it was as late as Marchor April. 1892, when Mr. Platt moved on April. 1892, when Mr. Platt moved oway, and it might have been during May or June following.

This appeared to prove beyond any doubt that the gentleman who now represents the people of the Third away, and it might have been during May or June following.

This appeared to prove beyond any doubt that the gentleman who now represents the people of the Third Ward on the school board could not have lived in that ward for more than nine or ten months, whereas the charter requires a residence of one year.

The real estate agent who had the renting of the house on Winston street stated that he remembered renting the place to Mr. Platt at about December 1, 1891, and also that Mr. Platt remained there for some five or six months.

Section 203 of the city charter, in referring to the qualifications of a member of the Board of Education says:

"To be eligible to the offices of member of the Council and member of the Soard of Education, in addition to ther qualifications, the person elected nust also be a resident of the ward from which he is elected. In the case if a member of the Board of Education for at least two years, and in the case of a nember of the Board of Education for it least twelve months next preceding such election."

A diligent effort was made last evening to see Mr. Platt and hear what iuch election."

A diligent effort was made last evening to see Mr. Platt and hear what le had to say in the matter, but he fould not be found.

An endeavor to find John K. Urmiton, who was the candidate in the Third Ward against Mr. Platt, also proved futile.

City Attorney McFarland when asked about the matter said that he supposed the defeated candidate could, if he so desired, bring suit to have the office declared vacant, but he had no further views to offer on the question.

The Riverside Water Company Loses a Suit.

Uneasiness Caused by the Feeling Arou Against the Chinese-The Citizens of Redlands Busy Cleaning Up the Streets.

Judgment has been rendered Judge Campbell in favor of the defend-ant in the case of the Riverside Water Company vs. the Timber Ditch Com-pany. The judgment gives the de-fendant the right to use water from fendant the right to use water from the present point of divergence of the ditch, and from the date of April 15 to September 15 of each year, all the waters of the Santa Ana River that the Timber ditch will carry from said point of divergence, and between the dates named. This virtually gives the Timber Ditch Company the full use of the waters of the Santa Ana River at the point of divergence made by the dam, for all that portion of the year during which the water is needed for irrigation.

The anti-Chinese sentiment is beginning to be felt in this city, and suspcious movements have been observed by the police officers. It is expected that a meeting will be called here soon to discuss the matter. Whether the first will be a law and order meeting or one of lawless character cannot yet be told, though it is expected that the lawless will be first to act here as elsewhere.

The latter has the custody of the eleven-year-old son until he is 14, when he will be sent to school.

REDLANDS.

Redlands is built upon such sloping ground that the hollow scooped from the side of the street for a gutter or open ditch would not answer here; consequently the miles and miles of streets the side of the street for a gutter or open ditch would not answer here; consequently the miles and miles of streets in the city, extending away through the orange groves in levery direction, are lined upon either side with gutters constructed of stone, or some and cement. To keep these clean and free of rubbish, and keep down the weeds which spring up rapidly from the moisture which escapes the ditches and permeates the soil along the sides, involves much labor and great expense. Several of the members of the Board of City Trustees, have been considering how best to accomplish this with as little expense to the city as possible. They desire this gem of a city to present at all times as neat and thrifty an appearance as possible. The property-owners are encouraged to use all diligence, and expend as much individually as they can afford toward keeping their places in order, and the sidewalks and gutters clean. But they cannot all do this, so the proposition of putting city prisoners at work cleaning gutters and sweeping the paved streets is under consideration.

game law, will take effect fifteen days after the date of its passage, Monday, August 28, 1893.

The closed season for game as prescribed in section 626 of the penal code, was changed as follows:

The beginning and ending of the close season for the killing of wild duck, snipe and rail, are hereby changed to the 15th day of March and the 15th the 15th day of March and the 15th day of September of each year.

In order to stop market hunting, the ordinance provides that "every person who, in the county of Orange, shall, hunt, pursue, take, kill or destroy any of the game mentioned in section 626 of the Penal Code, with intent to sell or simp the same to or for a market outside of Orange county, to exceed two dozen per week of quali, duck, snipe or doves, and only by pesidents of Orange county, shall be guil of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than 550 nor more than $200, or be imprisoned in the County Jail not less than fifty days nor more be fined not less than $50 nor more than $200, or be imprisoned in the County Jail not less than fifty days nor more than three months, or be punished by both such fine and imprisonment."

As the ordinance does not go into effect until fifteen days from its passage, August 28, it does not affect the opening of the deer season this year, which, under the State law, opened yesterday. The close season for quail remains as it was, from March 1 to September 1.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.
W. S. Morrow is just $38 better off W. S. Morrow is just $38 better off today than he thought yesterday he was. Mr. Morrow has just arrived from the wild domain of Mexico, and, like a great many people who have been very far away from civilization for some time, came back with no more money than he knew what to do with. In fact, he thought he might be able to use a little more than he could "dig up" at the time he struck town. But he did not know where to get it, so he strolled up the street ob-hivious to his surroundings, until an old acquaintance hailed him in a familiar way. They had conversed but a few moments, when Morrow learned that after he had left Santa Ana, a certain law-suit, in which he was interested had been decided in his favor, and as a result there was awaiting for him in the hands of the County Clerk, $38. Mr. Morrow made haste to find the County Clerk and to secure the neat little sum of money.

The Anaheim Gazette this week says: The Anaheim Gazette this week says:

"L. F. Loomis has the distinction of raising the richest beets in this section, his erop of thirty-nine tons averaging 28 per cent. This gives him the unheard-of price of $7.90 per ton, equal to $308.10 for the crop. These beets came from eight acres, and the yield was a little less than five tons per acre. Mr. Loomis's expense account was light, and he is altogether very well satisfied with his first experiment in beet culture. Had his crop been planted a few weeks earlier his tonnage would probably have amounted to fifteen tons per acre, and while the sugar would not perhaps have been so high, still the net return would have been greater. Mr. Loomis has completed hauling his crop, and in about two weeks will receive his payment for it."

One of the local papers in Anaheim, in speaking of the benefit the sugarbeet industry is, says that there are more farmers in the county looking into the prospects for raising beets than ever before: Scarcely a day passes but application is made by strangers about the prospects of building the refinery next year, and farmers down as far as El Toro have written saying they would sign contracts to raise beets and pay 75 cents per ton to ship them to the refinery here. There would be no trouble in going out today and getting 5000 or 6000 acres pledged to beet-raising next year.

This report is to be printed in circular form and distributed among the fruit-growers. The enterprise has now advanced so far that there is every hope of a successful campaign during the season. Those few growers who still hold out should come into the organization. They may think that they are strong enough to "go it alone," but they are likely to find out their mistake in the near future.

Plant Foods and Fertilizers.

It is only during the past few years that California farmers have begun to realize that fertilizing is an essential part of their industry in this State. Previous to that time, they seemed to hold the remarkable idea that, owing to the wonderful richness of the soil of the Golden State, or to some mysterious properties contained in the soil which are not found elsewhere in the world, it would never be necessary to fertilize the land. It would be about as reasonable to suppose that a man could keep on taking money out of his pocket without replacing any there, and yet always have plenty of cash on hand.

The truth in regard to this matter has of late been forced upon the attention of our fruit-growers, and many of them nest. Prof. Woodbridge of Los Angeles has recently issued an interesting pamphlet on plant foods and fertilization in which he takes the ground that soil analysis is not an indicator of the plant food required, but that this must be asin the orchard. In this he opposes Prof. Hilgard of the University of California. Prof. Woodbridge shows that sometimes the highest-priced fertilizers are of little or no value to particular crops and lands. Nitrogen, the most expensive element, considered from a commercial standpoint, has been use at a positive loss, while potash, th cheapest element, has often been found of the greatest agricultural value From the commercial value of a fertilizer, therefore, no conclusion as to its

Who is Doing It?-Is It Heintz? LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30.—(To the Editor of The Times.) This protracted controversy in regard to the efficacy, or otherwise of the red scale parasite, is coming very wearisome, not to say gusting, to the fruit-growers of disgusting, Southern California. It seems to be of a vindictive character, during which the interests of the fruit-growers are entirely lost sight of.

It is the impression of many of us fruit-growers that some underhanded influence has been working in this matter from the beginning, and we are pleased to see that the supervisors have intimated their intention of getting to the bottom of the question, if it is possible to do so.

By the way, what interest in this subject has C. M. Heintz? What ax has be to grind? Is it possible that he is the man who is responsible for this rancorous and apparently interminable dispute? I had some business a few days ago with the county horticultural commissioner. On arriving at his office door, I overheard a loud and cultural commissioner. On arriving at his office door, I overheard a loud and boisterous discussion within, which appeared to consist of a bitter attack on Prof. Koebele and his importation of parasites. Shortly afterward, Heintz, together with Scott and another gentleman, came from the office. Again, was not the petition regarding parasites, which was sent from Los Angeles to the last Legislature, started by Heintz, or his editor?

Yet again, did not Heintz intimidate Prof. Koebele, and prevent him from reading an essay which he had prepared at the State Prittgrowers' Convention, in San Jose?

If these are facts—and they can easily be proven to be such—does it not look much as if Heintz were at the bottom of this affair, and would it not be a good idea to try to ascertain what his motive is?

White Men as Fruit Packers.

White Men as Fruit Packers.

(California Fruit Grower:) Skillful white fruit-packers are so rarely found that the shipping interest is liable to suffer considerably by the attempts being made in various parts of the State to disperse the Chinese packers. It is not especially creditable to the white man that he is found inferior to white man that he is found inferior to the despised Chinaman as a fruit-packer, but such is the case. If white men insist upon supplanting yellow ones in fruit-packing or other industries they must at least show themselves equal to the Asiatics in point of skill, honesty and faithfulness. It is reported that some of the heaviest shipping firms have suspended Eastern consignments, temporarily at least, because of their inability to secure competent white packers, the Chinese having been frightened away. The authorities and citizens generally certainly have a most important duty in this connection. If, by a want of skillful handlers among white men, there is danger of much fruit being lost for lack of proper shipment abroad or curing at home, the matter should be promptly and vigorously treated by the fruit-growers. Mobs, however be promptly and vigorously treated by the fruit-growers. Mobs, however needy the individuals participating in them, must not be allowed to dictate a policy ruinous alike to property-owners and to those seeking labor in their or-chards and vineyards also. While we believe it a duty to displace Chinese laborers with white men wherever it can properly be done, it would be man-ifestly a suicidal policy to wholly sur-render business management to in-ifestly a suicidal policy to wholly sur-render business management to in-competent persons of any color.

We trust that one beneficial outcome of the present unhappy condition will be the proper training of white men and women in the skillful packing and handling of fruit; and no time should be lost in setting about this work.

The fruit shipments over the Southern Pacific road this year have been enormous, and the present indications point to the largest record of any season within the history of the road. #### PESTS AND DISEASES.

[Horticulturists who find new or unknow insect pests on their bees or plants are in vited to send specimen by mail, to THE TIMES, addressed by the Agricultural Editor. In an early issue after receipt of specimens their true character will be described, with instructions as to the best method of treatment.]

Worms in Apples.

A correspondent asks what are the worms which infest his apples, and what to do against them. The worms alluded to are evidently the larvae of the codling moth, Carpocapsa pomo nella, a pest that has caused mo struction to apples and pears than all other insects combined. In this State it produces three broods each year, other insects combined. In this State it produces three broods each year, the last brood of worms passing the winter in their cocoons, hidden beneath pieces of bark on the tree or in other sheltered places. The eggs are attached to the outside of the fruit, and the larvae, as soon as hatched, at once gnaw their way into the fruit. In combating this pest our efforts should be directed toward preventing the young larvae from entering the fruit. This may be accomplished by spraying the fruit while still very young with a poisonous solution which will destroy the larvae when it seeks to gnaw its way into the fruit. The solution most commonly used for this purpose consists of one pound of paris green thoroughly stirred into 200 gallons of water. Owing to the fact that paris green is slightly soluble in water there is danger of somewhat injuring the trees when this substance is used alone, but this can easily be obviated by using a small quantity of freshly-slaked lime, which has the effect of rendering the paris green wholly insoluble, and thus not injurious to the trees sprayed with it. A very good plan is to mix equal quantities of paris green and lime in a few gallons of water, stir thoroughly, and let it stand over night; the following morning it will be ready for use. In order to cause the solution to spread better and to adhere more firmly to the fruit, a few pounds of soap, either hard or soft, should be dissolved and added to the solution. The latter should be kept-constantly stirred while it is being sprayed upon the trees, in order that the baris green may be evenly distributed over the fruit.

It is customary to spray the young fruit when the latter is about half an inch in diameter, but as all of the fruit on any given tree does not attain this size at the same time, it is, in most cases, necessary to repeat the spraying operation a short time after the first spray, has been applied to the trees. the last brood of worms passing winter in their cocoons, hidden

Poultry men throughout the country should do all they can to gather the necessary information. Los Angeles has taken the start in this matter and set a good example to other sections of the country.

South Wales has 343,761 cows with yearly product of 18,362,897 pounds of butter and 5,506,071 pounds of cheese. South Australia has $1,000 cows, with a product of 3,000,000 pounds of butter and nearly half a million pounds of cheese. These figures do not show much, if any, more production than is required by the home population. All butter and cheese going from Australia must endure a long through the tropics. This will forbid competition with the United States and

The Company Said to Be Closely Pressed.

The Chamber of Commerce Excursion Will Be a Success-Passengers Must Sign Quickly-Local Rail-

The Chronicle reports that the Paclific Improvement Company has deeded to the Southern Pacific Company a lot of property in San Francisco which was at once mortgaged for $1,300,000, divided into thirteen notes of $100,000 each, to be used for obtaining money to pay interest on bonds. That paper says:

"The public will probably never realize the perilous cris'is through which the great corporation has just passed. It had the tightest squeeze in its history, and only pulled through by the closest of shaves. It taxed every energy and resource of Huntington to get the money to pay the July interest. He could hardly expect to pull get the meney to pay the July interest. He could hardly expect to pull through another hole so small. Up to this time the Southern Pacific could always make up any deficiency in interest payments by call loans from the banks, even to the extent of $2,000,000 or $3,000,000. The financial stringency came on in the spring, and in the early summer became a panic. At that time the company owed the banks large sums on call loans secured by personal notes of the railway magnates. When the season of financial distress caused the sorest pressure on the banks they called on the railroad to take up those loans. It was compelled to do so, although doing so left a frightful hole in its treasury just on the eve of having to meet its semi-annual interest payment. It did not have the money, the banks would not or could not advance it, and to make matters worse the receipts of the road took a fearful tumble. Troubles multiplied at a rapid rate. Unable to borrow or earn the money to pay the interest on its bonds, the Southern Pacific was a month prior to July 1 perilously near defaulting, which would have meant bankruptcy and a receiver."

A longer stop will be made at Kansas City, to accept the hospitality of that municipality, and probably one more stop will be made before Chicago is reached. The managers of the excursion urgently request the people intending to go with this party to secureatheir tickets and accommodations by Saturday evening, in order that their names may appear in the printed itinerary.
